NEWS AND COMMENTS.

OFFERING a reward of ten thousand dollars for the arrest or detection of the party or parties who are charged with having misplaced the rails over Bostian's Creek trestle, does not make it certain that the rails were tampered with, by any means.

OUR congratulations to Dr. KINGSBURY, the very able and scholarly editor of the Wilmington Messenger, upon the celebration of his 63rd birthday, during which time his pen has been wielded for and in behalf of the success and prosperity of his native State, the great National Democratic party and the people against dogmatic rule from "the powers that be."

DURING the year 1891, death has lowered to their last resting place three of Greensboro's most useful and influential citizens, in the person of JULIUS A. GRAY, THOS. C. WORTH and WM. M. HOUSTON, with the fourth listening to the waves of death breaking on a distant shore, simply awaiting the summons, calling him to that "mansion above, not made with hands, eternal and in the skies."

"THERE are all sorts of Smiths, including many JIM SMITHS; but 'in the heavens above, or in the earth beneath or in the waters that are under the earth,' there never was and never will be but one 'Monumental Jim.' Fayetteville OBSERVER please copy and send bill to SMITH." All right, then, brother BERNARD, here's to the health of "Monumental Jim;" may he live long, grow rich and die happy.

THE editors of the Reidsville Review, Messrs. GILLIAM & OLIVER, came out with "flying colors" in the libel suit, instituted against them by ex-Congressman JOHN M. BROWER, the case having been tried at the last term of the Superior Court of Surry county, and the jury returning a verdict of "not guilty." Experience is a dear school, it has been said, but there are those who are so foolhardy that they cannot learn otherwise, but who will find out in due time the "buzz saw" propensities of the average country editor.

FRANCE is pouting and revengeful, while Germany is defiant and boastful; and to a man up a tree it would seem that there is "blood on the moon" for somebody. ZOLA is out in a sensational article, declaring that "France is ready and henceforth has nothing to fear; that "time has worked for her against the conquerors; Germany is at her apogee of power." Already we can almost hear the voice of the tempest and distant rumblings that will sweep away another imperial dynasty and cause to totter and reel and sway a nation that has, by common consent, put forth its utmost efforts. Surviving Sedan, where, twenty-one years ago, NAPOLEON III. with an army of ninety thousand men, surrendered to the army commanded by King WILLIAM, of Prussia, France, drawing strength from defeat, is well nigh invincible. The leading German papers concur in regarding the situation as a grave one, and hazard nothing in asserting that if "war is inevitable, it will be a struggle of which the world has never seen the like."

AND so McKinleyism and the Chinese-wall tariff, adopted by the late Congress, is to be side-tracked in the Ohio campaign this fall, where the great High Priest of protection was nominated by acclamation and with a "grand flourish of trumpets," primarily for the purpose of giving it a 'boost." The "tidal wave" of opposition seems to have been too much of a "ground swell" for MCKINLEY and his cohorts. Hence silver is the pivot upon which the destiny of the g. o. p. hangs in the "Buckeye State." Pretty good evidence, this, that "we've got 'em on the run." As the News and Observer says, "if the Ohio campaign teaches one lesson, it is that the Republicans of the Northwest are afraid of the tariff issue," and hence the paramount importance of Democrats everywhere giving prominence to, and forcing the issue of tariff reform. Certainly it was the issue upon which the Democrats swept the country last fall, and the issue can be forced to the front with impunity and without in any sense lessening our zeal for free coinage, and as the Observer further says, "upon the principle that a wise general will always attack the most vulnerable place in the enemy's line." Tariff reform and free coinage is the slogan of the Democratic party. Gov. CAMPBELL will enter the campaign in a few days—having been detained at home on account of sickness.

THE OBSERVER, and indeed all who are in sympathy with and for higher education, will applaud loudly the action of the State University in offering to needy and worthy young men such extraordinary inducements for acquiring an education at this famous institution of learning. Chapel Hill has doubtless developed and polished some of the brightest minds North Carolina ever produced, and today President WINSTON authorizes us to say that the benefits of an education at the State University shall be placed, as far as possible, within easy reach of every deserving young man throughout the length and breadth of North Carolina. What an inducement for a young man to make something of himself, and an incentive to push forward! Help is offered in this way: free tuition to the sons of ministers of all denominations; free tuition for any young man preparing to be a minister; free tuition to bona fide teachers of public schools; long time indulgence on tuition to all really poor boys, to be repaid when able; scholarships to the needy, upright and talented; and even money to the very needy and talented whose previous career and actions in life deserve such recognition. Indeed if a young man possess true merit the University affords and offers him an opportunity for making it known to the world.

Thoughts of Home.

The Centenary.]

"How dear to this heart are the scenes of my childhood,
When fond recollection presents them to view!
The orchard, the meadow, the deep-tangled wildwood,
And every loved spot which my infancy knew."

The man or woman who wanders about the earth with no memory of a dearest spot somewhere, no picture where loved faces are gathered together within the walls that echo back, all through the stormy years, the dear voices that are long since hushed, has missed much of what is sweetest and best of life. For there is a little niche in every heart that only the dear old home can fill.

John Howard Paine filled his empty hearted-chamber when he sang of the "Lowly Thatched Cottage," and thousands of home-sick men and women have listened to his "Home Sweet Home" with tearful eyes and fast-beating pulse, for the sweetness and beauty of the song steals into the soul and brings out clear and distinct the one place that is like no other.

It may not have been a very grand home, indeed I think the homes that are loved best are not those that wealth has made beautiful. I know a low old house with a wide, long piazza, and big parlor and queer old kitchen, and tiny bed-rooms, that will always be more beautiful to me than even the palace they are building up here in the Western mountains can ever be. They say that the millionaire's ambition is to make for himself the most beautiful and grandest home in all the world. Wherever, on the face of the earth, there can be found anything to enhance its value or beauty, money will go and bring the treasure. Nature and art must be combined to make this perfect mansion. Foreign trees and flowers must make themselves at home, brooks and rivulets must be turned out of their natural courses, architects and gardeners, artists in every profession and trade must go to the utmost of their skill, that there may be no unsightly spot anywhere in the magnificent house or splendid grounds. It might all have dropped from the Arabian Nights, Alladin's lamp with the other wonders; and men and women will come from far and near to see Vanderbilt's home, Beautiful Baltimore, in the western hills of North Carolina, and they will wonder and admire; but tucked away in every heart will be a tiny spot, not worthy, except for little love of it, to be compared with this grandure, but it will always be a thousand times more beautiful than the home upon which millions have been expended.

Ah, you see it isn't money; that will make a home, not money alone; and this mansion, up in the "Land of the sky," though it may be very full of love, can never hold more than the tiniest cottage with only its drooping vines and simple flowers to make it not altogether barren and unbeautiful to a stranger, for to those who who have been little children there the place is like a bit of paradise. The leaves of the old trees are not like other leaves. No flowers are so fragrant as those that grew near the door, those that were tended by mother's hand. And long after time has, with its awful weight pressed the little home out of the world of real things, it lives in the loving memory; lives with changing seasons, the cold, white winter, when the winds blew fierce and cold; when the fire burned brightly and the merry laughter echoed and reecoed through the homely rooms.

And then the spring comes. There is the first hint of green among trees, the first upshooting of the spring flowers, the first song of the blue bird, and then summer grows out in its young beauty, and there are the long, lazy, happy days, the sweet, restful nights like dusky pearles and dark rubies strung between diamonds, nights full of sweet smells, and restful noises and happy stillness. And then comes autumn, before which brush and pen must be laid down, and then the winter again. And through it all, the dear home love, the home care. What is it, that makes the home love. Love and care for those we love. Perfect trust, sweet content, unfailing love. These are what make the little homes beautiful to the men and women who go out of them. They cover every defect, blind our eyes to the faults that others see, and make the treasured picture fairer than anything else we ever knew. Without this memory of home this sincere love for the spot we knew first should we know how to appreciate the promise of a home in the Better Land? A home that is to be more than a resting place for the weary, more than a stronghold to secure us forever from all evil. It is to be a place where there is love sweet and simple, for only those who become as little children can live there.

Oh! say, does the house yet peer from the shadow
Of ancestral elms on the side of the hill?
Its doorway of woodbine, that looked to the meadow,
And welcomed the sun a guest on the sill;
The April-winged martin with garrulous laughter,
Is he there where the mosses were thatching the eave?
And the dear little wren that crept under the rafter
The earliest to come and the earliest to leave?
Oh! say, is the hawthorn the hedgerow per fuming
Adown the old lane? Are the willows still there,
Where sweet brier thickets in springtime were blooming,
And breathing their life on the odorous air?
* * * * * * *
But why do I ask? I know 'tis deserted,
The old home is gone as a tale that is told;
Yet I know there is one in the great Hereafter,
That shall flush the dark clouds of Life with gold!

No Living Descendants.

Chicago Times.]

There is not now living a single descendant in the male line of Chaucer, Shakspeare, Spenser, Milton, Cowley, Butler, Dryden, Pope, Cowper, Goldsmith, Byron or Moore; not one of Sir Phillip Sidney or of Sir Walter Raleigh; not one of Drake, Cromwell, Hampden, Monk, Marlborough, Peterborough or Nelson; not one of Bolingbrooke, Walpole, Chatham, Pitt, Fox, Burke, Grattan or Canning; not one of Bacon, Locke, Newton or Davy; not one of Hume, Gibbon or Macaulay; not one of Hogarth, Sir Joshua Reynolds or Sir Thomas Lawrence; not one of David Garrick, John Kemble or Edward Kean.

AGE OF THE WORLD.

Different Scientists Estimate it as from 90,000,000, to 500,000,000, Years.

Assuming that the average rate of denudation in the past geopraphical ages did not meterially differ from what it is at present, and that the total quanity of stratified rock would, if uniformally spread over the whole globe, from a layer 1,000 feet in thickness, we have a total period of 1,000 multiplied by 6,000, multiplied by four, or 24,000,000 years. This, however, says the Gentleman Magazine, only represents the time necessary to deposit rocks which have been formed by denudation from older rocks, and these again from rocks of still greater antiquity. Assuming that the existing stratified rocks have thus passed through denudation and deposition, we have a period of 72,000,000 years.

Dr. Haughton, calculating from the observed thickness of the rocks down to the miocene tertiary, and assuming a period of 8,000 years for each foot deposited on the ocean-bed, finds for the age of the stratified rocks a period of 1,526,750,000 years. Assuming the rate of denudation, however, as ten times greater in ancient times than at present and adding one-third for the period since the miocene tertiary he arrives at a final result of 200,000,000 years. Dr. Croll doubts the validity of Prof. Haughton's assumptions, especially the total thickness he assumes—namely, 117,200 feet, or over thirty-three miles.

A. R. Wallace, adopting Dr. Haughton's thicknes, but assuming the sediment to be deposited along a belt of thirty miles wide round the whole coast line of the globe, finds, with an assumed denudation of one foot in 3,000 years, a period of 28,000,000 years. This, however, on Dr. Croll's assumption of reformation and denudation, repeated several times, would be merely a fraction of the time required. Dr. Croll further shows that the evidences of remarkable "faults" in various parts of the world, with "downthrows" ranging from 3,000 to 20,000 feet, the enormous amount of solid rock which must have been denuded off the surface of the earth during the progress of geological history. He estimates that three miles of rock have been removed since the beginning of the old red standstone. This would indicate a period of 45,000,000 years. Assuming that the period before the old red sandstone was equally long we have 90,000,000 years as the "minimum duration of geological time."

These enormous periods of time do not, however, seem to satisfy the demands of the biologists and the supporters of the Darwinian theory. Judging "from the fact that almost the whole of the tertiary period has been required to convert the ancestral orohippus into the true horse," Prof. Huxley believes "that in order to have time for the much greater change for the ancestral ungulata into the two great odd-toed and even-toed division (of which change there is no trace, even among the earliest eocene mammals) we should require a larger portion, if not the whole, of the mesozoic or secondary period," and still longer periods are demanded for the evolution of other animals "so that, on the lowest estimate, we must place the origin of the mammalia very far back in palæozoic times." Mr. Wallace speaks of possible periods of 300,000,000 an l even 500,000,000 of years.

Over 200 Years Ago.

When William Penn sailed up the Delaware, in 1682, there were about 3,500 white people in the province and territories, and on the eastern bank of the river from Trenton to Salem. A few wigwams and not over twenty houses were to be found within the entire limits of what is now Philadelphia. In 1684 the infant town had about 2,500 residents, while in 1699 Philadelphia and its Libertines had nearly 5,000 people. Between this period and 1790 there are almost no trustworthy records of population. The Philadelphia Directory, published in 1790 by Francis White, contains approximately 3,900 names of citizens, while MacPherson's Directory for the same year has more than 6,000 names. In 1790 the first census was taken, and the population was found to be 54,391.

An Astronomical Invention.

New York Tribune.]

An invention of some importance in astronomy has been made at the Georgetown (District of Columbia) College Observatory. By means of an instrument called the photoceronograph, a star is caused to record with absolute accuracy the time of its own transit across the meridian, thus eliminating all personal errors.

Hope.

The Centenary.]

We send them out, the dear, cherished hopes that are born in our hearts, the beautiful hopes and loves that have cheered and helps us, and they come back again to hide from the world that had no welcome ready. And with our human hearts for sepulchres, we bury them away; away from the scorn that is bitter, away from the pity that is unbearable, away where only God and our own souls may ever find the grave that was dug by such agony as only the human heart can ever know.

There lay our darling hopes, and we mark the spot with the keenest, saddest pain and plant the flowers of patience and trust about the grave; and, as the years roll on, the blossoms grow and bloom, watered as they are by tears, and tended by angles who are sent by the Master to care for these living cemeteries. For we know that the buried hope is not dead. Hope is immortal and can not die, when some flitting pleasure dances across our way, there before us is the sad, white face of a hope that has been lost for years. When we would join the happy pleasure seekers, a ghostly hand of some long burden draws gently back and softly presses us into our old position of grief.

Forget them, the living dead that he in the catacombs of our hearts? Forget the immortal hopes that spring from a soul that must never die? No, the waters of Lethe are not for these. Forgetfulness stretches her arms and reaches only half way. Time heaps up days and weeks and months and years, but they are only as a vapor that the first breath of memory brushes away.

Age steals our beauty, strength and energy, giving, instead of these, ruined forms, weakness and weariness; but, until reason, the breath of the soul, passes from us, our loved-lost hopes are waiting their turn to come in dreams and visions to our troubled sight. And shall we carry them with us? Shall we find them clinging about us when we open our eyes upon the glories of the life that lies just a hair's breadth farther on? Shall we realize them then when we have reached the land where all tears are to be wiped away and where no hour of darkness can ever come? Shall we find that they have come back because the weary land through which we have passed was not the best place for them? It may be so. The God who made nothing in vain, who cares for the tiny birds that are singing everywhere under the blue sky, will He pass a beautiful hope, a perfect, pure love, by as a thing of no value? Are we not worth more than these happy little creatures that sing close by my window, and are not these hopes and loves our very life? Our God is just and wise and merciful. He is touched with a feeling of our infirmities. He pities us as a father and comforts as a mother, and He will give us the hopes that we have buried with patient trust. He will give them back again and they will grow and become beautiful in the land where no blight shall strike them. We shall have them safe and beatiful, forever.

Like the little children who die before the world has laid any taint upon them, these buried hopes flock about us, beautiful because they were meant to unfold in the light of heaven.

"Hope springs eternal in the human breast;
Man never is, but always to be blest;
The soul uneasy, and confined from home,
Rests and expatiates in a life to come."

Railroad Earnings For United States.

Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette.]

The advance sheets of Poor's manual for 1891 shows that the total gross earnings of the railroads of the United States in 1890, were $1,086,040,207, and the net $341,666,369. Other receipts, including rentals, were $113,731,846, making the total net revenue $455,398,215. The total number of miles of railroad was 166,817, of which 5,739 were contracted during the year. The share capital corresponding to the mileage completed at the end of 1890 was $4,640,239,578, an increase of $149,145,260.

The funded debt of all the lines at the close of the year was $5,105,902,025, an increase of $277,536,255. Other forms of indebtedness equal $376,494,297 an increase of $19,017,137. The total share eaptial and indebtedness of all the roads and making returns were $1,122,635,900, an increase of $441,693,651. These statements show that in 1890 the percentages of returns an investment were slightly increased over the dercentages of the two preceeding years.

When Woods Decay.

Tests have been made to determine the variations in the length of time that is required to produce decay in different kinds of woods when buried under the surface of the ground. The birch and aspen were both found to decay in three years, the willow and the buckeye in four years, the maple and red beech in five years, elm and ash in seven, while the larch, juniper and arbor vitæ were uninjured at the expiration of eight years.

The Size of Raindrops.

Variations in the size of raindrops are dependent upon the differences in the height from which they have fallen and to the amount of atmospheric disturbance present at the time. If they fall from a great height the drops suffer gradual division into smaller and smaller parts, until they are at last converted into mists. In calm weather, with the clouds near the earth's surface, the drops are apt to be large and heavy.

Improvements.

"THE FLEECY STAPLE"

Below we give the cotton receipts of the principal interior markets of North Carolina, for the year 1891, which closed August 31st last, as well as the receipts for the previous year, 1890:

	Bales.
Fayetteville, 1891,	19,246
" 1890,	8,966
Charlotte, 1891,	25,710
" 1890,	18,457
Raleigh, 1891,	40,260
" 1890,	21,803

From the above figures it will be seen and must be conceded that Fayetteville's rate of increase in cotton receipts over all other interior markets for the year just closed, has been far greater than that of any other market—interior or coastwise. In fact Fayetteville is the only market where the number of bales received in '91 has even doubled the receipts of '90. And yet Fayetteville has done more. You may ask why this is so. But if you take into consideration the fact that Fayetteville supplies more cotton mills in this and throughout the New England States than any other interior market, and that by virtue of our geographical location—at the head of navigation on the Cape Fear river—we happily occupy a position which enables us to command for this market an extraordinarily low rate of freight from and to all points South, East and West, no questions will be asked. Besides, Fayetteville is easy of access, either by rail or water, and the market is never without an active corps of buyers of the "fleecy staple." Again the ruling prices on the Fayetteville market are not only the equal of the highest inland market, but more frequently rules from an eighth to a quarter of a cent higher.

Now, for argument's sake, let us suppose that only one-half the number of bales sold here last season had been sold elsewhere at only an eighth of a cent less than the ruling prices on the Fayetteville market. What would have been the result? A loss of about six thousand dollars to the planters. It is a question, then, for the farmers to decide as to how long they will continue to sell their cotton elsewhere for less than they can realize for it on this market. Fayetteville is admirably located, and should sell the cotton made throughout the cotton belt embraced by the Cape Fear and Pee Dee sections of the two Carolinas.

As a feeler, we would suggest further that the business men of the town arrange with the railroad authorities to run excursion trains into Fayetteville about twice a month, from Darlington, Sumter and Bennettsville, S. C., thus giving our friends and customers in Robeson and along these lines of railway, additional opportunities for selling their cotton and other produce in Fayetteville, as well as the transaction of other business here, which could only inure to our mutual benefit.

THE F. I. L. I. ENCAMPMENT AT CAROLINA BEACH.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.

For the Observer.]

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 31st, 1891.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—After a careful reading of the reports in the OBSERVER of August 27th, relative to the Encampment of the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry during the month of August, the question occurred to my mind: "Did the reporters intentionally ignore the fact that the military of Fayetteville were invited by the New Hanover Transit Company, Capt. J. W. Harper, General Manager, and that said company did encamp at Carolina Beach?" If not, why was no reference made to the assiduous attentions of the New Hanover Transit Company, and especally the general manager thereof and the indefatigable Capt. Nolan, Superintendent of the beach, to every detail, even the most minute, of the necessary arrangements for a cordial reception and a comfortable entertainment of the company and its veterans at the beach? To these gentlemen, more than to all others, the people of Fayetteville are indebted for the handsome manner in which the boys were entertained for a week (and yet their names appear nowhere in your columns); and, considering the limited time which the company had to prepare for the encampment, after the acceptance by the F. I. L. I. of the invitation to pitch their tents on Carollna Beach, everything else must have been subordinated to the preparations that were made.

And yet no mention is made of the fact that, on the evening of the arrival of the company in Wilmington, the magnificent steamer Wilmington, under command of Capt. Harper, was held at her wharf, subject to the orders of the campany, until 11 o'clock at night, to transport the boys, bag and baggage, and veterans, free of charge, to Carolina Beach, and that on their arrival there, they were invited to a well-lighted, comfortably-furnished pavilion, where they luxuriously enjoyed tired nature's sweet restorer until rosy morn. Neither was there any mention made of the fact that Prof. Miller's Orchestra and Germania Band were employed daily at the Beach, or that hundreds of dollars were spent by the New Hanover Transit Company during Thursday, Friday and Saturday, for balloon ascensions and other attractions, to make the occasion enjoyable; or that the uniform of the soldiers was their passport to and from Wilmington and Southport; or that sail-boats, bath suits and everything necessary to their comfort and pleasure, had been prepared, free of charge.

Your humble correspondent would not detract one iota from the praise which has been bestowed upon the citizens of Wilmington, or any particular member of the Wilmington Light Infantry, for their hospitality; but we would remind our reportorial friends that their failure to suitably call attention to the courtesies extended by "the principal actors of the drama" was an inexcusable omission, and places the Fayetteville boys in a position to be criticised for not being able to appreciate properly the hospitality of their true friends.

Again, with reference to the attention shown the F. I. L. I. by the members of W. L. I., much credit is given to Capt. Kenan, and none to Seargeant Moore, when the facts show that the only recognition given the company by Capt. Kenan was at the reception on the evening of the arrival of "the boys" in Wilmington, when, in response to a call, he made a few remarks. He never visited the encampment, * * * while Seargeant Moore and about half a dozen other members of the W. L. I. gave their presence and contributed largely to the enjoyment of the boys at the Beach and in the city.

The boys had a big time, and with were delighted with their trip, and were right royally entertained by some of the most generous citizens of our sister Cape Fear City; and while they duly appreciate all that has been said in praise of those of their friends whose names have been mentioned, they would not have it said that they ignored or failed to appreciate the most excellent courtesies extended to them by others whose names have not yet appeared in the public press. That's all.

Yours truly,
H. EYE.

Mr. Fife in Virginia.

Evangelist Fife has been in the city for the past few days, enjoying the quietude and pleasures of home, since his meeting closed in Virginia. From here he goes to Clinton next Saturday, where he begins a ten days' series of meetings, extensive preparations for which have been made and duly announced.

Mr. Fife's recent meetings in Chatham, Va., like those he has conducted in this State, were a grand success, as the following report from the Chatham Tribune will show.

Chatham never witnessed such a far-reaching and glorious revival of religon as the one through which we have just passed, and it will doubtless be remembered by every one who was so fortunate as to participate in it as the most interesting and impressive services ever experienced. When Mr. Fife began his meetings he had two things to contend with, a protracted spell of rainy weather and opposition on the part of some. The first difficulty remained through nearly the entire meeting; the latter before the services ended had altogether disappeared. Such crowds and scenes were never before known in Chatham. Whenever the weather was at all good, the congregations numbered from 600 to 1,000, and the last night fully 1400 people were present. The Evangelist at all times preached Christ, and stood with open Bible and constantly quoted Scripture to enforce every position he took. His earnestness was intense. His knowledge of the Bible was wonderful, his exposition of the Scriptures was plain, direct and to the point, and his prayers were from the heart. Every one was impressed with his consecration. His methods were few and very simple, and no undue excitement was allowed. After preaching he would hold enquiry meetings, when sinners would be plainly pointed to Christ. There was no clap-trap or novel means used. Great stress was placed on frequent invocations made for the Holy Spirit. The results were grand. Men, women and children were at nearly every service brought to Christ. Lawyers, merchants, farmers, the clerk of a court, a judge, a common wealth's attoney, a county superintendent of schools, clerks, a doctor and many others made professions. During the meeting some 175 persons made open professions. The town and surrounding country were stirred up and awakened. Business was practically suspended, and religon was the subject of conversation with all. The expenses of the meeting, some $200,00, were collected and the sum of $625,00 for the Evangelist. When Mr. Fife left wednesday morning some 200 ladies and gentlemen were at the depot to see him off. Prayers were offered, beautiful songs were sung and hearty farewells spoken.

The following resolutions were offered by Rev. George W. Belk, and unanimously adopted by the crowd at the depot just before Mr. Fife departed on the train:

Whereas, it pleased the great King and Head of the Church to send W. P. Fife, "The Drummer Evangelist," to speak the Word of Everlasting Life to us; and whereas, this brother has lovingly warned the sinner of his danger, and faithfully exhorted the christian to do his duty, pointing out to all the horors of hell and the glories of Heaven, therefore be be it:

Resolved 1st, That we endorse him as an eminent servant of God, and a faithful expounder of His Word.

2d, That we commend him to the favor and fellowship of all people; praying that God may be with him and give him great success.

IN MEMORIAM.

SAMUEL THAMES is dead! Woudrous indeed seems to us this sad dispensation of Providence; that one in the prime of life, full of youthful vigor, of joyous, happy vitality; one bearing promise of such a noble, useful career, one so universally esteemed and beloved, should be so suddenly cut down and taken from our midst, leaving so many hearts shrouded in sadness and gloom.

"The blade of the reaper takes the ears that are hoary.
But the voice of the weeper, wails manhood in glory."

The subject of this tribute was a native of Gray's Creek, Cumberland county, N. C., but for the last few years his home was in Melrose, Fla., where a devoted sister now mourns the loss of a brother whose companionship served to enhance the pleasures of her new home, and whose early death leaves an aching void in her sad heart. He died on the 31st of July, aged 24 years, after a short, but painful illness of two days. Although the period of his life was brief, it was sufficient for him to have won and retained the admiration and love of all who knew him.

His was such a lovable nature, so frank, so true, so earnest, so unobtrusive, so gentle, so overflowing with the milk of human kindness, what wonder that,

"None knew him but to love him,
None named him but to praise."

Far better than all human appreciation, God loved him best, and called him away from this vain world of sin and sorrow to dwell with him and the angels, for he was a Christian; an humble devout follower of the meek and lowly Jesus, and for years a consistent member of the Baptist Church.

Though the Master's summons was sudden, we feel confident that he was found ready, and died, as he had lived, at peace with God and man, and that his happy spirit, parted from the bright earthly tenement, has flown gently away to the God who gave it.

In Melrose, there is weeping and sorrow for the loved brother, the faithful, true-hearted friend, the public-spirited, honorable citizen, the Christian gentleman. In his old home, at Gray's Creek, there is the desolation of a great woe, which only a tender Father can alleviate. May He in mercy, bind up the bleeding hearts and show them in His own good time that all things work together for good to them who love God:

To his bereaved parents we can but bid them "look upward" and take comfort in the knowledge that the hand which inflicts the wound, is all able to heal, and that he never errs. Farewell, dear departed friend, I trust not a final farewell, but that we may meet in the "sweet bye and bye."

"How is the strong staff broken, and the beautiful rod,
And the bright, genial spirit has flown to its God,
"The Lord who gave, hath taken away,
Blest be His name Father, oh! help us to say,
For many the hearts now mournful and sad,
Which his presence was wont to cheer and make glad,
Dear friend, thy young manhood gave promise most rare,
Of a future so bright, so useful and fair,
Fond hopes now lie withered, all scentless and dead,
Which clustered around thy bonny bright head,
And with earth-darkened vision, we vainly would know
Why this cup of affliction, full of sadness and woe?
But His promise He gave, and in faith let us bow,
"Hereafter we'll know what is hidden just now,"
The blessed assurance we may bind to our wounds,
That our loss is his gain, a sweet haven he's found,
"Where no more night shall be, but all things are fair,
And God wipes the tears of the weepers up there;"
But poor human hearts must sorrow, we know,
For those whom we love, and the tear drops must flow,
Aged father bereft of his pride and his joy,
Fond mother awaiting the return of her boy;
But to kindred and loved ones he'll never come more,
His anchor is cast on a fair brighter shore,
Where watching the portals your Sam now awaits,
To welcome each loved one through the fair pearly gates;
Sad sisters and brothers, no more ties are riven;
There are no parting scenes in the kingdom of heaven.

In Plain English!

Unquestionably considered of incalculable consequence in correcting all constitutional contaminations, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Can conscientiously commend it to careful consideration, confident of its competency in all controllable chronic complaints.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the result of much research and wide experience, by a practical physician of world-renown; its formula embraces the most potent restoratives of the whole vegetable kingdom. It is especially recommended for all blood disorders—dyspepsia, liver and kidney complaints, scrofula, salt-rheum, catarrh and consumption—in its early stages—insuring relief and cure in all cases!

Put Up and Put Down.

I want a word to rhyme with ills,
I have it now: I'll put down pills.
Excuse me, though—than put down pills,
I'd rather suffer some big ills.

To put down the old-fashioned, huge, bitter pills, that griped and made such disturbance internally is more than a wise man will do. He will not put up with such unnecessary suffering. He uses Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. As a Liver Pill, they are unequaled. Smallest, cheapest, easiest to take. Put up in vials, hermetically sealed, hence always fresh and reliable, which is not true of the large pills in wood or pasteboard boxes. As a gentle laxative, only one Pellet for a dose. Three to four of these tiny, sugar-coated granules act pleasantly and painlessly as a carthartic.

CONFIRMED.

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it, and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers the California Fig Syrup Company.

Sallow and leaden-hued complexions soon give place to the loveliest pink-and-white, when the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is persisted in, and cosmetics entirely abandoned. Nothing can counterfeit the rosy glow of perfect health, which blesses those who use this medicine.

ANOTHER SPECIALTY.

Those who have in contemplation a visit to the "Land of the Sky" or to the Seashore, and all other persons, will find a big bargain in Trunks of all sizes and kinds. These Trunks will be on exhibition from and after to-day, just across the street in the Moore store. They will be sold at a sacrifice, as I have no room to keep them, and intend giving up the trunk business.

La Grippe Again.

During the epidemic of La Grippe last season Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds proved to be the best remedy. Reports from the many who used it confirm this statement. They were not only quickly relieved but the disease left no bad after results. We ask you to give this remedy a trial, and we guarantee that you will be satisfied with results, or the purchase price will be refunded. It has no equal in La Grippe, or any Throat, Chest or Lung Trouble. Trial bottles free at B E. Sedberry & Son's Drug Store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine; made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies. He found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle, at B. E. Sedberry & Son's Drug Store.

A BOON TO THE SICK.

Dr. King's Royal Germetuer is endorsed by Rev. J. B. Hawthorne, pastor First Baptist Church, Atlanta, Ga., who says: "It is a great remedy." Rev. Sam P. Jones says: "I wish every poor suffering wife had access to that medicine." Thousands of others attest its virtues. Fifty gallons are drunk in Atlanta daily, where it is performing remarkable cures. It removes the cause of disease and builds up from the first dose. Send stamp for full particulars, certificates of wonderful cures, etc., to King's Royal Germetuer Co., Atlanta, Ga. C. N. G. BUTT, Ass't Cashier.

MERCHANTS' AND FARMERS' NATIONAL BANK.
No. 1781.
CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 24, 1890.

I regard the Northwestern Mutual as one of the best companies in existence. I think it without exception one of the soundest organizations and the best for the policy-holder. I now hold three policies in this company, and would not change them for any other. My dividends are much larger than in any other companies in which I carry life insurance, and my insurance as safe in this as any other. The affairs of the company are safely and conservatively managed; they pay promptly and are exceedingly fair and liberal with their policy-holders.

Messrs. John B. Cary & Son, Richmond, Va.:

GENTLEMEN:—I have three policies in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, aggregating $20,000 insurance; the first taken in 1884. I am entirely satisfied with the results, which have exceeded my expectations in regard to dividends. In comparing these with my dividends on policies in other companies, I have no hesitation in giving preference to the Northwestern. I believe it to be as safe and well-managed as any other company. Yours truly,

D. Humphreys, Esq., Agent Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., Norfolk, Va.:

DEAR SIR:—You ask how I like my policies in the Northwestern Life Insurance Company. In reply I have to say that I carried one policy in that Company for eight years, and was so well pleased with it that I then took another policy for $10,000 on the twenty-year endowment plan in the same company, and that I would not exchange these policies (now covering upon my life for $20,000) for the policies of any other company I know of. I consider the company the best for the policy-holders, and do not hesitate to commend it to my friends. Very respectfully,

N. BURRUSS.

Col. John B. Cary, Richmond, Va.:

DEAR SIR:—I take pleasure in stating that I have successively taken in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company four policies aggregating $30,000, canceling $10,000 I had in other companies because results or dividends in your company were so much better.

It is needless to say that I consider the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company as standing very high and offering advantages superior to others, else I should not have given it this decided preference.

Very truly yours,
E. SCHAEFER.

FAYETTEVILLE N. C.

THURSDAY.....SEPTEMBER 10, 1891.

Stanly County Heard From.

Southern Vidette.]

A friend informs us that old man Joshua Hudson, of this county, now about 96 years old, never bought a pound of Western bacon, never had a horse to die, never took a dose of doctor's physic, never saw a railroad in his life, and hasn't drank a drop of intoxicating liquor in seventy years, and hasn't been further from home than to Monroe, Union county, a distance not exceeding fifty miles. He has raised 23 children, the youngest now nearly grown, and has lived to see his great-great-grandchild. His children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren number 346. The old gentleman has been almost blind for the last four or five years, but is still quite active and robust, considering his age.

From All Around.

RALEIGH, N. C., September 3.—News was received from Grand-Sire Busbee today. He is yet in Baltimore, but has left St. John's Hospital and is at a boarding-house. He improves, and is able to take some walks.

A special from Carthage says L. W. Cockman was murdered near there by Willis Shaw (colored), having been stabbed through the heart.

After a long pursuit, Deputy-Marshal Currie captured a noted moonshiner, named Fleming, in Robeson county. Fleming has made his escape. Five hundred dollars reward is offered for him today.

The lower Neuse River, after having done vast damage to the crops, is falling slowly.

Pushing the Cumberland Fair.

From the Red Springs Farmer and Scottish Chief.]

Mr. Geo. A. Burns, of Fayetteville, has raised by private subsceiption, a handsome purse for racing at the Cumberland Fair to be held on November 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th. The amount of the purse is already more than $500 and is to be called the Cape Fear and Pee Dee stakes. The live and energetic Secretary, Mr. Z. W. Whitehead, is pushing the preparations, and says he proposes to have the best fair ever held. A balloon ascension and parachute leap will take place on Wednesday and Thursday, and a class of Highland Scotchmen will contribute very largely to the entertainment of the people by reading in Gaelic. In fact many new and novel features will be added.

Weather Crop Bulletin.

The weekly weather crop bulletin reports the rainfall heavest in eastern district and least in the Western, otherwise the same conditions have prevailed over the state. Cotton continues to shed and is affected by rust. It is opening very slow. Corn was not much damaged but the saving of fodder and hay is not progressing rapidly, the yield not promissing to be quite as good as expected. The present condition of the staple crops is as follows: Eastern district, cotton 69; corn 83, tobacco 82; Centarl district, cotton 73, corn 88, tobacco 76; Western district, cotton 78, corn 91, tobacco 84; for the State, cotton 73, corn 87, tobacco 82 (130 reports received covering sixty counties.

The Progress of the South.

State Chronicle.]

The assessed value of real and personal property in the Southern States in 1890, according to the census, is $4,284,312,886, an increase over 1880 of $1,316,770,152, or 44.3 per cent. The gain for the rest of the country was 43.3 per cent., showing that the rate of growth is now greatest in the South. Population in the South increased but 18.8 per cent., so that the per capita wealth of $181.28 in 1880 increased to $219.08 in 1890. If railroads and the like had been included in the census figures the aggregate of Southern wealth in 1890 would have been some hundreds of millions greater, and the rate of increase perhaps greater.

Col. Sam. H. Smith, of Winston, has been appointed Commissioner General of the military department of the Southern Inter-State Exposition. Col. Seeking Vengeance.

On last Sunday Jeff Crook, who lives two or three miles north of town, stole his first cousin, the daughter of Mrs. Phœbe Crook, and ranaway and married her. While they were away it is said that Mrs. Patsy Crook, Jeff's mother, went to the house and took about $40 in money and part of his clothing and put "rough on rats" on his meat, flour and sugar. Jeff had her arrested, but she gave bond, and thus kept out of jail.

UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

Address of the General Commanding

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 3, 1889.

To the ex-Soldiers and Sailors of the Confederate States of America.

The convention of delegates from the different states which assembled in New Orleans June 10, 1891, effected a general organization known as the "United Confederate Veterans." It is designed as an association of all the bodies of ex-Confederate Veterans and Sailors throughout the union. The convention adopted a constitution and did me the great honor to elect me General, which position I accept with peculiar gratification. Preliminary to the issue of any orders I wish to call general attention the objects of this association and to enlist in their accomplishment the active co-operation not only of every survivor of Southern armies, but also that large contingent of sons of veterans, who, too young to have received the baptism of fire, have nevertheless received with you the baptism of suffering and of sacrifice.

The first article of the constitution of the association declares:

"The object and purpose of this organization will be strictly social, literary, historical and benevolent. It will endavor to unite in a general federation all associations of the Confederate veterans, soldiers and sailors now in existence or hereafter to be formed; to gather authentic data for an impartial history of the war between the states; to preserve the relics or mementoes of the same; to cherish the ties of friendship that should exist among the men who have shared common dangers, common suffering and privations; to care for the disabled and extend a helping hand to the needy; to protect the widow and orpan and to make and preserve the record of the service of every member, and as far as possible, of those comrades who have preceded us in eternity."

The last article provides that neither discussion of political or religious subjects nor any political action shall be permitted in the organization and any association violating that provision shall forfeit its membership.

Comrades, no argument is needed to secure for those objects your enthusastic endorsement. They have burdened your thoughts for many years, you have cherished them in sorrow, poverty and humiliation. In the face of misconstruction you haye held them in your hearts with the strength of religious convictions. No misjudgments can defeat your peaceful purposes for the future. Your aspirations have been lifted by the mere force and urgency of surrounding conditions to a plane far above the paltry consideration of partisan triumphs. The honor of the American Republic, the just powers of the federal government, the equal rights of states, the integrity of the constitutional union, the sanctions of law and the enforcement of order have no class of defenders more true and devoted than the ex-soldiers of the South and their worthy descendants. But you realize the great truth that a people without the memories of heroic suffering and sacrifices are a people without a history.

To cherish such memories and recall such a past, whether crowned with success or consecrated in defeat, is to idealize principle and strength of character, intensify love of country and convert defeat and disaster into pillars of support for future manhood and noble womanhood. Whether the Southern people under their conditions may ever hope to witness another civilization which shall equal that which began with their Washington and and ended with their Lee, it is certainly true that devotion to their glorious past is not only the surest guarantee of future progress and the holiest bond of unity, but is also the strongest claim they can present to the confidence and respect of the other sections of the Union.

In conclusion I beg to repeat, in substance at least, a few thoughts recently expressed by me to the state organization, which apply with equal force to this general brotherhood.

It is political in no sense except so far as the word "political" is a synonym of the word "patriotic." It is a brotherhood over which the genius of philanthropy and patriotism, of truth and of justice will preside; of philanthropy, because it will succor the disabled, help the needy, strengthen the weak and cheer the disconsolate; of patriotism, because it will cherish the past glories of the dead Confederacy and transmute them into living inspirations of future service to the living republic; of truth, because it will seek to gather and preserve as witnesses for history the unimpeachable facts which shall doom falsehood to die that truth may live; of justice, because it will cultivate national as well as Southern fraternity and will condemn narrow mindedness and prejudice and passion, and cultivate that broader, higher, nobler sentiment, which would write on the grave of every soldier who fell on either side; "Here lies an American hero, a martyr to the right as conscience conceived it."

I rejoice that the general organization, too long neglected, has been at last perfected. It is a brotherhood which all honorable men must approve, and which heaven itself will bless. I call upon you therefore to organize in every State and community where ex-Confederates may reside, and rally to the support of the high and peaceful objects of the "United Confederate Veterans," and move forward until, by the power of organization and persistent effort, your beneficient and christian purposes are fully accomplished.

J. B. GORDON,
Commanding General.

The Long Lost Found.

RALEIGH, N. C., September 3.—News received here to-day that the widow of Dr. George C. Cafe, has just returned to Concord with her two sons, ages ten and eight years, who were taken from her by their father six years ago, and whom she had all the time been trying to trace. The oldest boy John, was found in the family of a drayman at Johnson City, Tenn. Mrs. Cafe did not recognize him at first. The other boy Kropheim, was found in a cave twenty-eight miles from Johnson City. He at first refused to leave it but finally his mother persuaded him to do so. Neither boy wished to return. They had entirely forgotten her, and neither yet calls her mother. Dr. Cafe was found dead in the road near Concord six weeks ago. He had left the children in Tennessee.

Will Raleigh Loose the Female University.

Correspondence from Raleigh says that interest in the proposed Baptist Female University has almost subsided, and it is a question now whether Raleigh will get the college or not. If Raleigh cannot raise the amount required, certainly some other city in the State can.

NOTICE.

I WISH TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF the people of this section to the fact that my mammoth Gin House will soon be completed, and will be equipped with the best 60-saw gin made; also feeder and condenser. The house is beautifully located on my farm, one fourth of a mile north of Lee's Cross Roads—almost direct between here and Dunn, a fine cotton market. I will be able to gin your cotton in a few weeks, and you can take it on to town, and I will pay market price for your seed. I very kindly ask the people to give me their first bale, and should they not be satisfied I ask no more. I will gin for the 25th, and give your cotton every care in my power. My house will be well arranged for caring for several bales at once. Satisfaction guaranteed. I am yours very truly,

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Lawn Party.

Bear in mind the lawn party to be given at the manse of the Presbyterian Church, on Anderson Street, Tuesday night. Everybody invited.

Change of Schedule.

On account of the late change in the schedule on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, in effect to-day, the passenger train leaves for Wilmington and Greensboro at 3:10, instead of 2:55 as heretofore.

Bridge Material Arriving.

Material for the iron bridge over Rockfish, on the Atlantic Coast Line South, has arrived, and only awaits the completion of the masonry and a few other preliminaries before it will be placed in position.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway Company has been called to meet in this city October 1st, for the election of officers and the transaction of other business of importance.

Delayed.

The passenger and mail train on the Atlantic Coast Line was delayed several hours Saturday, caused by a heavy washout on the R. F. & P. R. R. Many of the the Coast Line trains were forced to go around by Raleigh.

The Laundry.

The Fayetteville Steam Laundry will soon be in operation—the plant having arrived is now being placed in position, and all necessary arrangements are being made under the supervision of an experienced Laundryman.

Grand Concert.

Remember the grand concert by the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry Company Band, at Williams's Opera House, this evening, from 8 to 9 o'clock. Admission: 25 cents. Let our people embrace this opportunity to give this most worthy institution their hearty and enthusiastic support.

Wins the Prize.

To our much-esteemed county man, Mr. J. Marshall Williams has been awarded the prize offered by ———— Alliance, No. —, for the best growing crops in Seventy-first township; a compliment indeed to his success and efficiency as a tiller of the soil. The committee visited a number of farms, but the honors were finally accorded Mr. Williams.

Improving.

Mr. Lucian Fisher, who was so cowardly shot in the breast and back, by some miscreant near Roseboro several days ago—mention of which was made in the OBSERVER, is rapidly improving, and is thought to be in a fair way to recover from his injuries. Fasten the guilt of this foul act on the perpetrator, and he should be made to pay the penalty at the end of a rope.

Opening of the Graded School.

The Fayetteville Graded School for whites will open on September 21st. We have been requested by Prof. B. C. McIver, the Superintendent, however, to urge all the pupils of the school to assemble at Donaldson's Academy on Friday before, the 18th inst., at 9 o'clock sharp. It is needless for us to say that it is highly important for every pupil to be present and answer to the roll-call at the time and place above mentioned.

Water Works Again.

F. A. Snow, Esq., representing the National Water Supply & Guarantee Company, of Chicago, spent last Saturday in Fayetteville, looking over the field, taking measurements for pipes, etc., and left the following day for Philadelphia. He will be absent a few days, and on his return will begin active operations on the Fayetteville water-works. He took occasion to speak flatteringly of the possibilities of the town, from more than one standpoint, saying he regarded it as possesing advantages for a safe and remunerative investment of capital, that few towns in the South could boast of.

Twentieth Anniversary.

Extensive preparations are being made for the celebration of the 20th anniversary of the institution of Cumberland Lodge, No. 5, Knights of Pythias, in this city, in Williams Hall at 8:30 o'clock on the evening of September 22nd. Addresses will be made by Dr. J. A. Hodges, of this city, whose thrilling eloquence has several times stirred our people before, filling their souls with rapturous joy and delight at the beauty and style of his oratory; Grand Chancellor J. M. Ward, of Raleigh; Rev. W. S. Creasey, of Wilmington, and Rev. J. F. Lyon, of Gibson's Station. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the F. I. L. I. Band.

A "FIEND INCARNATE,"

Pays the Penalty of an Atrocious Crime at the End of a Rope.

Mack Best, an ex-convict and desperate character generally, was lynched near Garland, on the C. F. Y. V. R. R. Sunday night about midnight, it is supposed, for attempting a criminal assault on a Mrs. Peterson, of Sampson county, who resided near Parkersburg.

To all intents and purposes Mrs. Peterson was on her way to visit her son, who resided near Garland, and was pursued by the fiend for some distance, while walking the railroad track. Finally Best ran up behind her and with one blow, felled her to the ground, threatening to kill her if she made any further resistance. But fortunately her shrieks and cries for help and assistance attracted the attention of a colored woman near by, whose presence at the scene frightened the villian off in the direction of Parkersburg. Having regained her presence of mind, Mrs. Peterson proceeded, post haste, to the house of her son, to whom she related her awful experience and as best she could described her assailant. Indignant and enraged beyond endurance, Mr. Peterson followed in hot pursuit, accompanied by one or two neighbors to whom the news had been communicated, and the lustful brute was finally captured near Parkersburg, a short while afterwards, placed under guard, and the sheriff of the county telegraphed for. In the meantime a body of masked men from all parts of the county took Best to the scene of his crime, and with a rope, hung him by the neck, leaving his body struggling and dangling in mid-air. To make sure of their work a rifle-ball was sent whizzing through his body, where it remained suspended till the coroner came and cut it down late Monday afternoon.

Best is said to have been a native of Sumter, S. C., where he was once before tried for a similar offense, and had only been out of the penitentiary a short while for theft in Richmond county, this State.

Fayetteville Street Railway Company Organized.

Pursuant to an announcement in our last issue, a meeting of the incorporators of the Fayetteville Street Railway Company was held here on Saturday, the 5th inst. The roll was called, and the Secretary noted a majority of the original incorporators represented, either in person or by proxy. On motion, the books of subscription were opened, and fourteen thousand dollars of stock then and there subscribed.

A permanent organization was then effected by the election of the following board of directors: Dr. J. W. NcNeill, J. T. Denny, T. H. Sutton, Z. W. Whitehead and Jas. D. McNeill. In the afternoon of the same day the directors met and elected officers for the next year, as follows:

J. T. Denny, President.
Dr. J. W. McNeill, Sec'y & Treas.
Sutton & Cook, Attorneys.

A movement is on foot to give the old town such a push forward as she has not felt since the torch of Serman's boomers leveled the arsenal with the ground on Haymount, and the people, one and all, should lend a helping hand, both by word and act.

Religious Notes.

Rev. Dr. Miller, of Charlotte, will preach in the Presbyterian Church here next Sunday morning and night. Dr. Miller is a profound thinker, a powerful speaker and one of the most scholarly divines in the North Carolina Synod.

On the following Sunday, 20th inst., Rev. Alexander Sprunt, of Henderson, will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church here. Those who have heard Mr. Sprunt speak in terms of the highest praise of his ability as a preacher and powers of oratory.

The meetings at the Baptist Church, in this city, continue with unabated interest, under the auspices of Rev. J. H. Edwards, of Goldsboro. Rev. W. J. Fulford, of the North Carolina Baptist, has rendered valuable assistance throughout the meetings.

Baggage Master Dead.

Mr. E. M. Radford, baggage master on the Atlantic Coast Line, between this place and Wilson, died at Smithfield, on the 3rd inst., of fever, after a brief illness. The deceased was a very efficient agent, and was held in high esteem by the company.

That most delightful perfume of the scuppernong is again abroad in the land, and every passing breeze is laden with its fragrance and flavor. Mr. Alex. S. Huske made his first shipment North last week, and reports a fine crop in sight.

Weather for September.

The weather prophet is still in "the land of the living," and herewith appended is his prognostications for the month of September:

The goose bone does not promise much better weather for September. It says: The 3rd, and days next thereto, ought to bring reactionary rains, with changes to more pleasant weather. From the 7th to 11th is a combination of cause which will doubtless result in active storms. Many dry sections will have rains at this time. Note the 8th to night of the 11th. Reactionary movements will be more marked on and about the 13th, in consequence of Earth's approaching Equinox. The 18th to 21st is a regular storm period, with earth at Equinox. Storms must result. Be watchful, especially on and near the lakes and seas. A centre of minor disturbances on the 24th. A regular period begins on September 29th and runs into October. Earthquakes and hurricanes probable on danger days.

Heroism of a Fayetteville man.

The Wilmington Messenger of Tuesday gives the following account of Capt. E. L. Pemberton's heroic rescue of one of Fayetteville popular young ladies from a watery grave:

Miss Fannie Watson, of Fayetteville, with a party of ladies was in surf-bathing at Carolina Beach yesterday afternoon. Miss Watson, who is a good swimmer, went out some distance farther than any others of the party and found herself unable to return on account of the tide flowing out. She became frightend and cried for help. Mr. Ed. Pemberton, who was in bathing with the party, seeing the distress of the young lady and hearing the appeals for assistance, went to her rescue and by dint of heroic exertions succeeded in bringing safely ashore.

Both were nearly exhausted and many fair hands were swift to bring stimulants to the lady and her rescuer. Besides the fright, no injury was sustained by Miss Watson. It is another instance of a good swimmer miscalculating the force of the receding waves and human powerlessness to resist them. Let this be a note of warning.

Resolutions.

The appended resolutions adopted by the F. I. L. I. at a late meeting are self-explanatory:

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Sept, 1, '91.

The Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry Company, in civil meeting assembled on its return from the encampment at Carolina Beach, have directed us in its behalf to return thanks to the citizens of Wilmington for their generous hospitality and many and delicate courtesies, extended to us while in their city.

It seems that her whole people had resolved themselves into a committee of entertainment to give us a Cape Fear welcome. They succeded as they always do.

We can only say we enjoyed it; we appreciated it; we are grateful for it. We feel that certain of her good people, however, in soldier speech, deserve "particular mention for their distinguished and meritorious conduct," and would name in this connection, Col. F. W. Kershner, Capt. S. VanAmringe, Capt. J. R. Nolan, Capt J. W. Harper, Capt. Nolan, of Carolina Beach, and Messrs R. E. Heide, and M. W. Divine.

We also wish to express our thanks to our comrades in arms, the Wilmington Light Infantry Company, who gave us such a cordial welcome, and made us feel the force of Maj. Love's welcome, "that our feet were on our native heath." We now live in hopes of having you all under our own "vine and fig tree," so that we may offer you the fruits thereof; that we may offer you the "wine" of hospitality that maketh the heart glad, the "oil" of welcome that giveth a cheerful countenance.

PROCEEDINGS OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Sheriff Smith makes a Fine Showing and is Given the Tax Books for 1891.

The September meeting of the County Commissioners was attended by a full board present.

On motion, it was ordered that repairing the public road near brick-yard branch, be referred to Warren Carver.

John Eason and Geo. E. Smith were given privilege to peddle goods, wares, etc., in Cumberland county, without any license tax.

Ordered that Hardy Nott, W. W. Clark and Elizabeth Johnson be dropped from the poor list.

The petition of citizens from Carver's Creek, to make the bridge over Little River at McBryde & Hodges mill a public bridge, was continued till next meeting.

The supervisors of Carver's Creek township were ordered to accept as a public highway the road from McBryde's to the river road, near Darden's, appoint an overseer and assign over the proper hands thereto.

D. B. Gillis was appointed a committee of one to ascertain the cost of building a house of worship at the Home of the Aged and Infirm in Cumberland, and report same to next meeting.

Bridge bonds to the amount of $1,326.77 were reported paid and burned in the presence of the board.

The Clerk was ordered to notify all merchants in Cumberland who have failed to llst their purchases during the month July, to do so at once.

Repairs of Graham's bridge and a dam across Mingo, were referred to the supervisors of Black River township.

The insolvent account of the July Term of Cumberland Superior Court was received and ordered paid.

It was further ordered that the tax-books for 1891, be turned over to Sheriff Smith, with the usual warrant for collection. With his books for 1890, Sheriff Smith made an admirable showing, an evidence of his efficiency as a public official and tax-collector that any man might and should feel proud; his receipts showing that he had made a full and complete settlement with the State and County Treasurer.

The Sheriff tendered his County tax-bond in the sum of $50,000 which was accepted and ordered recorded.

The "Swell" Ball of the Season.

Undoubtedly the most delightful ball of the season was given at Williams' Hall on Friday night last, complimentary to the visiting young ladies in the city. The floor managers were Messrs. C. L. Campbell, A. J. Pemberton, E. R. McKethan and E. E. Gorham, with the executive committee consisting of Capt. J. C. Huske, Geo. W. Weightman and Geo. A. O'Hanlon.

Elegantly attired in ball costume, the young ladies, with their escorts, under the soft, mellow light, moving gracefully to the strains of music's sweetest melody, presented a galaxy of beauty and chivalry seldom if ever surpassed in these parts. Below we give a list of the "maidens fair" with their toilettes:

Opening of the Opera House.

Barlow Brother's Minsterls will open the season at Williams Opera House here next Tuesday night. They come to Fayetteville strongly endorsed, and we give below the following criticism by the Louisville Argus.

"Barlow Brother's Minstrels is made up of the best talent in the country; is new all through, and has so many commendable points that to mention one seems like slighting the others that were equally as good, and are all deserving of praise. There was not a tame scene nor a tiresome incident in the whole performance. The singer's voices are rich and well trained; they are tastefully arranged, and the succeeding scenes are full of rapid and beautiful surprises, making the Barlow brother's the event of the season.

Miss Mary Smith and Mrs John Shaw, left for the Northern market yesterday, whither they go to select their fall stock of millinery.

General Manager Fry, of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad, paid his respects to the OBSERVER, during his short stay in our city the past week.

Miss Lillian Dicks, daughter of Mrs. R. P. Dicks, owner of Naomi Cotton Mills, Randleman, N. C., is visiting Fayetteville, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Fife.

Mrs. M. J. Pemberton and daughters Misses Maggie and Alice, and Mrs. E. L. Pemberton, have returned from Carolina Beach where they spent the summer.

Mr. Geo. Rosenthal, of the C. O. D. Clothing Store, returned this week from the Northern markets, where he has been replenishing his fall and winter stock of clothing.

Charlie Marsh, of the Southern Express Company, with headquarters in Richmond, has been at home for the past few days, shaking hands with his many friends in Fayetteville.

Capt. J. H. Currie, of Wilmington spent a few days at his extensive farm in this county this and last week, and reports considerable damage to cotton by the last heavy rains.

Mr. Cook Breeden and wife, of Bennettsville, nee Miss Powers of this city, spent a few days here the past week and were the recipients of many congratulations from their host of friends.

Mr. A. J. Cook, spent Saturday and Sunday in Morganton, with and at the request of his old friend and companion Dr. J. R. Pearsall, at one time a resident of this city, and who is now passing through last stages of consumption.

Black River Freshet.

Capt. J. D. Black, of the steamer Lisbon from Point Caswell, reports an immense amount of damage by the freshet in Black River. The lowlands were covered until crops were out of sight, and the water spread out until a breadth of two or three miles was reached. Stores at Mill Creek were flooded.

He says in some places he lost the river, and the stream ran over corn-fields which were so submerged that he could not see the tops of the corn in some places. People were taken from their houses on the Lisbon. One old negro, standing on the top of his house when the boat passed, cried out: "For de Lord's sake! Yonder comes Noah's ark."

When the boat reached Wilmington you could pick up a bushel of acorns on her deck, swept from trees while passing under the boughs. The crops of corn and cotton in the lowlands are a total loss. At last accounts the river was falling.—Wilmington Star of last Saturday.

A private letter from Duplin reports a similar condition of affairs existing throughout the territory contiguous to the North East river, in Pender as well as Duplin. At Chinquepin, the high water carried away about twenty-five feet of the bridge, which spans the river at that place, where the water is said to have been higher than since 1868. Thus far heard from great loss to crops along the water courses everywhere is reported all over the State, and the East in particular.

My Grandmother's Turkey-Tail Fan.

It owned not the color that vanity dons
Or slender wits choose for display;
Its beautiful tint was a delicate bronze,
A brown, softly blended with gray;
From her waist to her chin, spreading out without break,
'Twas built on a generous plan:
The pride of the forest was slaughtered to make
My grandmother's turkey-tail fan.

For common occasions it never was meant:
In a chest, between two silken cloths,
'Twas kept softly hidden with careful intent,
In camphor, to keep out the moths.
'Twas famed far and wide through the whole country-side.
From Beersheba e'en unto Dan;
And often at meeting with envy 'twas eyed,
My grandmother's turkey-tail fan.

Camp-meetings, indeed, were its chiefest delight,
Like a crook unto sheep gone astray,
It beckoned backsliders to re-seek the right,
And exhorted the sinner to pray.
It always beat time when the choir went wrong,
In psalmody leading the van.
Old Hundred, I know, was its favorite song—
My grandmother's turkey-tail fan.

A fig for the fans that are made now-a-days,
Suited only to frivolous mirth!
A different thing was the fan that I praise,
Yet it scorned not the good things of earth.
At beds and at quiltings 'twas aye to be seen;
The best of the gossip began
When in at the doorway had entered, serene,
My grandmother's turkey-tail fan.

Tradition relates of it wonderful tales.
Its handle of leather was buff.
Though shorn of its glory, e'en it now exhales
An ordor of hymn books and snuff.
Its primeval grace, if you like, you can trace:
'Twas limned for the future to scan,
Just under a smiling gold-spectacled face,
My grandmother's turkey-tail fan.

Seed Corn in the Fall.

St. Louis Republic.

If good care is taken a better quality of seed-corn can be secured early in the fall than at any other time.

A better opportunity is afforded of noting the size and thrift of the stalk, the earliness of maturity and other characteristics that are essential to having a good quality of seed.

With anything like a good crop a better quality of seed can generally be laid away by selecting from that grown on the farm than from any other source; but if this is done it is necessary that good care be taken in the selection that the work be done in good season.

And by a careful selection of the best each fall, thoroughly drying and storing it away, seed-corn can be secured that can be depended upon to germinate under anything like favorable conditions when planted in the spring.

Nearly all corn changed from one locality to another needs to become acclimated before the best growth and yield are possible, and it is for this and the lessened cost that, so far as is possible, it is best to grow and select the seed-corn on the farm.

As soon as the grain begin to harden well, it will be a good plan to go through the field and select out enough for seed. If not convenient to pull the ears at that time, mark them so that they can readily be seen later on.

They should always be gathered, dried and stored away before cold freezing weather sets in. Seed-corn, if thoroughly dry, will stand very cold weather without injury; but, if wet, cold weather injures the vitality seriously.

It is always best to lay in a larger quantity than will actually be needed, so that a second selection may be made, giving in this way the best quality. Dry it thoroughly and then store it in a place where rats and mice cannot get at it.

Seed-corn selected in this way can nearly always be relied upon, and, all things considered, is the most economical as well as the best to plant. To rely upon corn selected out of the cribs in the spring when more or less of it has been exposed to rain, snow and freezing weather is a poor plan.

Items about Geese.

New York World.

The two kinds of geese most largely kept are the Embden and Toulouse. The plumage of the Embden is pure white and many people claim it is the more profitable variety to keep because the feathers bring a better price than those of the Toulouse or gray goose. I prefer the Toulouse because it will attain a heavier weight that the Embden and seems to me a handsome and better-formed bird. An additional advantage is that where the grass-run is good the Toulouse can be kept with a water-trough only, while the Embdens do not thrive as well as with a pond. Good pasturage is necessary, for geese are big eaters. With this and a good pond, keeping geese ought to pay without much trouble.

As many as four geese may be allowed to one gander, but three is a better number. Toulouse geese will lay about thirteen eggs. While sitting all that is necessary is to leave them free to go out of their house to get food and water. A goose sits about thirty days. The young ones can be left in the nest twenty-four hours without feeding; then they should be taken out and fed on plenty of green grass and given water with a little oat-meal in it.

The hot, dry weather of midsummer is hard on young geese, because it dries up the grass and water. A few oats fed to them every day will help keep them thriving during this time. The young goslings require to be kept warm and dry, and should not be allowed to swim for at least a fortnight. The goose should be cooped up for that length of time, or she may rush the goslings around too much.

At the Boarding-House Table.

Minneapolis Journal.

"Well, I'm rather stuck on you," remarked the fly to the boarding-house butter, as she slumped in.

"Keep your grip on him, you're strong enough," said the sugar to the butter, and the latter replied:

"Well, you have got sand."

This made the cheese laugh so hard that it fell to the floor, and the sugar got his revenge by exclaiming:

"How are the mitey fallen!"

A prominent railway superintendent of Savannah (name given on application) says he was crippled by a disease in legs and arms, powerless to walk or eat without assistance, having lost the use of his limbs by rheumatism, malaria, dyspepsia, etc. Physicians here sent him to New York and they returned him here, and he was as complete a wreck as one could be and live. A course of P. P. P. has made him a well man.

P. P. P. is known among physicians in the South for its various and wonderful cures as the great blood purifier of the age.
